

Homework Sockets

Complete the lab assignment. The following tasks become mandatory:

- Each client has a graphical user interface in which all connected clients are seen. The user can click on a connected client and send the message to that client without needing to enter the ID manually.
- Change the broadcast model to a unicast model. The server will dispatch the message only to the destined receiver